John Morgan and Charles Spencer Francis. Papers, 1874-1906.

11 volumes, 256 pieces.

(1 copybook, 10 scrapbooks, 60 pieces of correspondence and biographical sketches, 196 bills).

The bulk of this collection is made up of scrapbooks of John Morgan Francis, 1823-1897, his son, Charles Spencer Francis, 1853-1911, and his grandson, John Morgan Francis, 1879-1925. Six of these scrapbooks contain materials, clippings and some correspondence, pertaining to Cornell University and the Cornell crews when Charles Spencer Francis ('77) and John Morgan Francis ('02) were students. (actually entitled Copybook) (#263, Vol. 11)

The copybook, ¹October, 1884 - August, 1885, of John Morgan Francis, 1823-1897, U.S. Minister to Vienna, contains copies of letters written by Francis to colleagues, friends and family, and gives an insight into duties and problems of a diplomat. Francis also made pertinent comments on the election of 1884.

The folder of correspondence mainly contains letters to Charles Spencer Francis, many of which pertain to Cornell crew matters and the controversy between Francis and Charles E. Courtney, Cornell crew coach.

The folder of 196 bills, 1909, are from a year spent by Charles Spencer Francis in Vienna as U.S. Ambassador.

For the purpose of cataloging, the scrapbooks have been numbered as follows:
