25 ft.

A substantial collection (1802-1937) of the business and family papers of Horace White (d. 1860) and his brother, Hamilton (d. 1865) of Syracuse, New York, and their descendants; these papers (16 boxes, 103 vols.) include correspondence, accounts, ledgers, journals, daybooks, letterbooks, deeds, wills, and other types of legal documents, broadsides, and other materials; a large portion of the business papers relates to investments in Iowa lands and real estate in Syracuse, Chicago, Toledo, Akron, and elsewhere; the breadth of the White interests can be seen in papers relating to their investments in both Eastern and Western railroads and in canal, turnpike mining, and manufacturing concerns; also included is considerable material relating to the Onondaga County Bank and the Bank of Syracuse and its successor, the Syracuse National Bank; family papers include letters and other papers of the White brothers, their wives, children, grandchildren, in-laws, and other relatives; some of this correspondence, relating to their position in Syracuse society and to their civic and social interests, reflects the standards of taste and behavior of the time.
