ROTN Collection Notes

After partial re-organization, there are now fifty-two cartons in the ROTN collection in the Cornell University Archives. Of these fifty-two cartons, twelve contain files, letters, business records, source material (printed), and other documents, and forty cartons hold tape recordings in a number of categories, some of which have been organized internally. There are also four cartons of 'Martin Luther King Speaks' tapes, which were intended to be 'zapped' to produce clean tape that could be re-used.

--Documents are stored in cartons that are numbered #40 through #51. At the moment they are located between cartons #22 and #23 of the tape recording series.

--Tape recordings are found in cartons with the designation "t.r." following the number. These cartons run from #1 t.r. through #40 t.r., but, as noted above, documents - cartons #40 through #51 actually occupy the physical position between #22 t.r. and #23 t.r.

--All cartons are found on press S-60, except for the four cartons containing M.L.K. tapes. These four are clearly labeled and have been placed under the table opposite the elevator in the sub-basement.

--Of the forty cartons of tape recordings, cartons #1 t.r. through #11 t.r. have been catalogued. Cartons #12 t.r. through #40 t.r. have not been organized. The general contents of these cartons can be readily obtained from the following chart:

| Getting Along With Farmers            | 34              | circa 1949 | Babcock , Howard Edward                               | Speech probably given on occasion of 87th anniversary of land-grant college system. Babcock describes the farmer as a practical, hard working individual. To get along with farmers, he contends one must respect the economics of agriculture and the fundamental integrity of farmers, and one must stand for something Recorded live. Occasional problems with recording.   |

Title

Sample elephant vocalizations with explanatory announcements
by Lane Elliott.

To playback, use a Nagra Tape recorder and a speaker system with good low-frequency response, as much of the relevant sound is between 20-50 Hz.

Talent

The tape contains calls used in Etosha as playback stimulus calls; also 140-sec. section demonstrating audible/inaudible calls. All calls are played at real time and at 4x real time.

#1472 MAINTAINING LIFE IN SPACE

Dr. Marvin Luttges. A salad machine and shrimp will be elements of living in space as we move from the throwaway culture of today's astronauts to a system of recycling almost everything.

VO @ 13:57

#1473 HUMANS IN SPACE

Dr. Marvin Luttges. We humans are not at home in space. Our bones, muscles, even our defenses against disease weaken. That doesn't matter for a short trip, but if we want to live in a space station or fly to Mars, we need to find some solutions.

SCIENCE CHRONICLES & SCIENCE LOG

#336 HELPING SICK HEARTS - Drs. Chui, Magovern, Badylak. Thousand of Americans suffer from congestive heart disease. With new help for their hearts these people could lead more normal lives.

#337 SUN PROTECTION - Melanie Smith. Preventing exposure to the sun which causes wrinkling, premature aging, and skin cancer has replaced the desire for a dark tan.

#338 WHAT TO DO WITH OUR GARBAGE - Dr. Allen Hershkowitz. America is running out of room for all its garbage. Recycling will help, but the controversial need to burn trash may be necessary.

#339 BACK TO THE MOON - Dr. G. Jeffrey Taylor. The secret to what happened in the first 700 million years on Earth may be found on the moon. Should we go back?
