I am sorry to have to bring this to a close. I hope you will soon rejoin us.

In the end, the end, and some can be lost. I think it will be best to continue our journey towards the east. The road is long, but we must be patient. We have much to do, and time is of the essence. Let us not waste it.

I must say, I am grateful for your company. It is comforting to have someone to accompany me on this journey.

We should make camp for the night. It is late, and the road is long. Let us find a safe place to rest and prepare for the journey ahead.

In the morning, we will continue our journey. I hope you are ready.

Goodnight.

Yours sincerely,
